

THE CANADIAN ANGUS HALL OF FAME

2023 Inductee—Brian Good

The Canadian Angus Hall of Fame is designed to recognize members who have made significant contributions to the Angus breed in Canada. Nominations will be accepted until March 31 and one nominee will be inducted at the annual national convention. Any individual, family or business that has impacted the growth of the Angus breed in a variety of ways will be considered. Former CAA staff may also be considered provided the individual is not a current employee at the time of nomination. To be considered for induction, the nominee must have demonstrated leadership and made significant contributions to the Angus breed across Canada. These contributions may take the form of promotion, marketing, breed improvement, youth development, historical restoration and preservation.

Nomination Process

A complete nomination package that includes the following items must be submitted by March 31:

The name and contact information of the person coordinating the nomination and who can provide additional information if required

- o Contact information:
 - CAA membership number
 - Mailing address
 - Email address
 - Phone number(s)

Information about the nominee including:

- o Individual name
- o Farm/herd name
- o CAA membership number (if known)
- o Year of birth (if known)
- o Year of death if applicable
- o Town/city and province
- o Educational information if relevant

A written summary of no more than 1,000 words outlining the individual's contributions to the Angus breed. The summary should cover the following topics:

- o Career including volunteer and service contributions
 - o Achievements
 - o Awards and honours received
 - o How the nominee demonstrated leadership (with examples)
 - o How the nominee's initiative and leadership impacted the Angus breed in Canada and benefit to CAA members and/or the commercial industry (as relevant)
 - o The nominee's unique contributions and legacy
- Nominators are encouraged to submit letters of support from CAA members, commercial producers and beef industry colleagues.

Selection Process and Notification

A selection committee will review all nominations received by the Canadian Angus Association by March 31.

Induction Ceremony

The induction ceremony will be included in the Canadian Angus Annual National Convention Banquet program and the inductee will have the opportunity to make a speech of up to five minutes in length. In the case of a posthumous honour, a member of the inductee's family will be invited to speak.

Hall of Fame Inductees

The Canadian Angus Association will pay travel costs and provide one night of accommodation for the inductee to attend the ceremony at the National Convention Banquet. The inductee will receive a commemorative bronze and certificate and have their name and photo added to a display in the CAA office.
