WHY ANGUS

ADAPTABLE TO ALL WEATHER CONDITIONS

With winters that can reach -30 degrees Celsius and summers that can reach +30 degrees Celsius, Canada's climate can be harsh. Yet Angus thrive under all conditions with a minimum of maintenance and in all regions of Canada.

NATURAL MARBLING FOR TENDER BEEF

The market is calling for carcasses with more marbling in order to satisfy consumer demand. The heritability of marbling is moderately high. The correlation between marbling and tenderness is also moderately high so when cattle producers select for marbling, tenderness improves. Using Angus cattle with their superior marbling ability opens the door to improved beef tenderness and increased consumer acceptance of beef.

PREFERRED CARCASS SIZE & QUALITY

Research demonstrates that Angus sires can be selected to produce progeny that have an increased ability to grade AAA without compromising feed efficiency or animal growth - and without increasing yield grade at the expense of carcass quality.

SUPERIOR FEED CONVERSION

A recent study of crossbred cow types demonstrated that Angus-cross were among the most efficient, providing higher net returns on your investment.

CALVING EASE & VIGOROUS, LIVE CALVES

Even in Canada's sometimes harsh calving season, the Angus cow consistently delivers a calf that hits the ground running, with little assistance required. The Angus mothering instinct is very strong, as is the calf's instinct to get up and suck within the first few moments after birth.

SUPERB MOTHERS WITH SUPERIOR MILKING ABILITY

The Angus cow is renowned for her maternal traits, calving ease and ability to milk producing a calf each year that more than exceeds half her body weight. An Angus mother puts her all into her calf, producing an abundance of milk right up to weaning.

EARLY MATURITY, FERTILITY & STAYABILITY

The Angus cow does her job well, whether it's her first or her fourteenth calf. Stayability (a cow's continuing ability to bear calves) is more than just a word with Angus - it's not unusual for 12- and 13-year-old Angus cows to be productive.

NATURALLY POLLED

No dehorning is required with Angus cattle as they carry a highly heritable, natural polled gene.

NO CANCER EYE OR SUNBURNED UDDERS

The dark skin and udders of red and black Angus cattle mean that sunburned udders are rarely a problem. Similarly, cancer eye is not prevalent in Angus cattle.

Angus animals arrived in Montreal, PQ by 1860 and some landed in Victoria, BC in 1874. No progeny were recorded. The first of the breed born in North America, is commemorated on a bronze plaque in Guelph recognizing the birth of "Eye Bright 2nd" on January 12, 1877, sired by the bull Gladiolus. In 1882 there were 323 Angus imported from Scotland. The Hon. M.H. Cochrane had his headquarters in Montreal and a ranch in Alberta. He purchased ten animals from Scotland in 1881 for the tremendous sum of $9,975. These were the days when top bulls were selling for $300.00.

April 19th, 1905 the organizational meeting of the Canadian Angus Association was held in the Prince Edward Hotel in Brandon, MB. In 1906 the honourable Walter Clifford of Austin, MB was the 1st President of the Canadian Angus Association and was followed in office in 1907 for a one year term by Samuel Martin, Rounthwaite, MB. From 1912 - 1920, J.D. McGregor, Brandon, MB served as Canadian Angus President. The longest term for a Canadian Angus President in history.

In July 2005, The Canadian Angus Association, hosted by the Manitoba Angus Association, celebrated the 100th Anniversary of the organizational meeting of the Canadian Angus Association, in Brandon, MB, along with the CJAA Showdown.
